An Appeal to the Wool-growers of the Country-Lawlessness in Texas-A Noted Ex-Convict Stabbed.

By Telegraph to The Times. MONTREAL, March 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Mrs. Onesime Collectte, the wife of a wealthy Canadian farmer, and her seven children were burned to death today in their home near Côte St. Michael, five miles from here. The family lived in a large stone house. At an early flour this morning the building took fire, and before assistance was given it had burned to the ground. Collerette had left-the house to attend to work about the farm, and on returning found the place in flames. He tried to rescue his family, but was over-come and fainted. He was terribly burned. The fire was caused by the explosion of a can of kerosene oil.

When Collerette saw the flames he rushed When Collerette saw the flames he rushed toward the house. At the door he was not by a burst of flames. Then he ran to the rear door. Only smoke was coming out of this door, and into it Collerette dashed. He got as far as the door of the sleeping apartment, but here was a solid wail of flame. The floor was burning beneath his feet, the ceiling to the upper floor was utterly impossible, miless he dashed into the seething caldron of fire. Where he had last seen his wire, he could see the bed, but it was a mass of flames and empty.

He felt himself being overcome by smoke and hear, and seeming to go mad, as he now

He felt himself being overcome by smoke and hear, and seeming to go mad, as he now explains it. Not knowing what he did he made a rush for the door through which he had entered. It was afire, but Collerette got through and out into the air. All his ciothes were burned off.

A dozen people arrived on the scene within five minutes after the explosion took place, but even then it was impossible to approach within 25 feet of the building. The ground around it seemed to be ablaze, and hen who dragged Collerette out of further danger were badly singed.

The bodies of the victims were all charred, and of that of Mrs. Collerette only the trunk was found.

A FOUL PRISON PEN.

Vermin and Shackles in a Missouri KANSAS CITY, March 9 .- [By the Asso ciated Press. The charges made by Alderman Ford concerning the frightful condition of prisoners confined in the workhouse are found to be true. Two reporters of the Times investigated the matter yesterday and found about seventy-five male prisoners crowded into narrow and filthy cells, reeking with vermin, and not provided with sanitary regulations. The men were constantly manacled with shackles weighing from five to thirteen pounds, and therefore were prevented from bathing. For these 75 prisoners there are but two guards. The guards say that on account of the desperate character of the men it is necessary to shackle them.to prevent their escaps. It is thought likely a brick prison with be freeted provided with proper sanitary regulations, and a sufficient manber of guards to watch the prisoners and do away with the shackles. vided with sanitary regulations. A FILIAL RULER.

The Kaiser's Tribute to His Grand-BERLIN, March 9.—[By Cable and Asso-clated Press.] The imperial mausoleum at Charlottenburg was dedicated today. The route to the tomb was lined with sightseers, who respectfully uncovered their heads as the imperial party passed. The services were of an impressive character. Prince Bismarck was absent. Be ore returning to the palace, the Emperor and members of the family placed wreaths upon the coffins of William and Augusta, which were com-

of William and Augusta, which were completely hidden from sight by the flowers that were heaped upon them.

To mark the anniversary of the death of his grandfather. Emperor William today sent to Von Boetticher, Minister of the Interior, the decoration of the order of the Black Eagle. Accompanying the decoration was a letter written by the Emperor, in which he associated the honor with the memory of the late Emperor, to whom he refers as the pioneer of the social reform movement, which he says be has resolved to pursue with all persistence in his efforts to carry out the desired reforms. The Emperor, says he has found Von Boetticher his main support. The hondent is nuch remarked in connection with rumors that Von Boetticher will succeed Hismarck.

Sister of Charity Murdered-He

Moscow, March 9.—(By Cable and Associated Press.) Tremsndous excitement prevails here over the horrible murder of a Sister of Charity named Pintnizky. The woman was well known for many charitative of the state of ble deeds. Her body was found, cut in small pieces, in a sack.

From some evidence which the police will not disclose the murder was charged upon a young medical student named Belsonsoff, who was arrested in the province of Viadi-mir, and immediately committed suicide.

The mysgraye clothes; loose him and let him and let him the near future. there will be some sensational developments in the near future. The mystery of several burglaries that occurred a few weeks ago has been cleared up by the arrest of Bush and Clarke, who will probably plead guilty when they come to trial, as the evidence against them is in such shape that they cannot escape. In connection with one of these burglaries a rather singular incident has been discovered. Among the articles stolen from one of the houses was a gold watch, with the name of the nour engraved on the inside of the owner engraved on the inside of the case. Some days ago a deputy constable called on the person who lost the watch, with the cases in his possession. He said that he had found the cases in a jewelry store, where they had been sold for old gold. The person at once identified the cases as being those of his watch, pointing out the name. The officer then intimated that something was due him, remarking that "a little oil makes the machiner" run much smoother." ing that "a little oil makes the machinery" run much smoother."
The party thinking that he had lost enough, his house having been robbed three or four times, declined to pay anything, when the officer said that he would have to have the cases, and would see what he could do about it. He then left, and as he did not return, the matter was reported to poturn, the matter was reported to po-lice headquarters. The detectives turn, the matter was reported to headquarters. The detectives called on the deputy constable and asked him what he had done with the watch cases, when the latter replied that he had returned them to the jeweler, and supposed that they had been melted up. The detectives are been melted up. The detectives are wasters now under Miss Gertie Cohe, planist.

the two bereft sisters. We went into the traditional tomb in December, and it is deep down and dark, and with torches we explored it. We found it all quiet that afternoon of our visit, but the day spoken of in the Bible there was present an excited multi-tude. I wender what Jesus will do. He orders the door of the grave re-moved, and then he begins to descend the steps, Mary and Martha close after Him, and the crowd after them. Deeper down into the shadows and deeper! The hot tears of Jesus roll over His cheeks and splash upon the back of His hands.

back of His hands.

Were ever so many sorrows compressed into so small a place as in that group pressing on down after Christ, all the time bemoaning that He had not come before? Now all the whispering and all the crying and all the sounds of shuffling feet are stopped. It is the silence of expectancy. Death had conquered, but now the vanquisher of death confronted the scene. Amid the awful hush of the tomb the familiar the awful hush of the tomb the familian the awful hush of the tomo the familiar name which Christ had often had upon His lips in the hospitalities of the village home came back to His tongue, and with a pathos and an almightiness of which the resurrection of the last day shall be only an echo He cries:

"Lazarus, come forth!"

The eyes of the slumberer open and he rises and comes to the foot of the he rises and comes to the root of the steps, and with great difficulty begins to ascend, for the cerements of the tomb are yet on him, and his feet are fast, and his hands are fast, and the impediments to all his movements are so great that Jesus commands:

"Take off these cerements, remove these independent independent in these."

Oh, I am se glad that after the Lord raised Lazarus He went on and or-dered the loosening of the cords that bound his feet so that he could walk, and the breaking off of the cerement that bound his hands so that he could stretch out his arms in salutation, and the tearing off of the bandage from around his jaws so that he could speak. What would resurrected life have been to Lazarus if he had not been freed from all those gripulements of his bed? I all those cripplements of his body? I am glad that Christ commanded his complete emancipation, saying: Loose him and let him go.

A MODERN CREED NEEDED. The unfortunate thing now is that so many Christians are only half liberated. They have been raised from the death and burial of sin into spiritual life, but they yet have the graveclothes on them. They are like Lazarus, hobbling up the stairs of the tomb, bound hand and foot, and the object of this sermon is to help free their body and free their soul, and I shall try to obey the Master's command that comes to me and comes to avery minister of religion. every minister of religion.

Loose him and let him go. First, many are bound hand and foot by religious creeds. Let no man in everlast I have eight or ten of them—a creed about religion, a creed about art, a creed about social life, a creed about social life, a creed about social life, a creed about something that a man believes, whether it be written or unwritten. The Presbyterian Church is now agitated about its creed. Some good men in it are for keeping it because it was framed from the belief of John Calvin. foot by religious creeds. Let no man heavens, but in our time it has gone to making daguerreotypes and photo-graphs. It is the same old water, but in our century it has gone to running steam engines. It is the same old electricity, but in our time it has become a lightning-footed errand boy. So it is the old Bible, but new applications, new uses, new interpretations. You must remember that during the last three hundred years words have changed their meaning, and some of them now mean more and some less I do not think that John Calvin be lieved, as some say he did, in the damnation of infants, although some of the recent hot disputes would seem to imply that there is such a thing as the damnation of infants.

A man who believes in the damna-tion of infants himself deserves to lose heaven. I do not think any good man could admit such a possibility. What Christ will do with all the bables in the currst will no with all the bables in the next world I conclude from what he did with the bables in Palestine when He hugged them and kissed them. When some of you grown people go out of this world your doubtful destiny will be an embarrassment to ministers officiating at your obsequies, who will have to be cautious so as not to hurt surviving friends. But when the darling children go there are no "ifs" or "buts" or guesses. We must remember that good John Calvin was a logician and a metaphysician, and by the proclivities of his nature put some things in an unfortunate way. Logic has its use and metaphysics has its use, but they are not good at making creeds.

A gardener hands you a blooming rose, dewy fresh, but a severe botanist comes to you with a rose and says: "I will show you the structure of this rose." And he proceeds to take it apart and pulls off the leaves and he says: "There are the petals," and he takes out the anthers and he says: "Just look at the wonderful structure of these floral pillars," and then he cuts the stem to show you the juices of of these floral pillars," and then he cuts the stem to show you the juices of the plant. So logic or metaphysics takes the aromatic rose of the Christian religion and says: "I will just show you how this rose of religion was fashtoned;" and it pulls off of it a piece and says: "That is the human will," and another piece and says: "This is God's will," and another piece and says: "This is free agency," this is this and that is that. And while I stand looking at the fragments of the rose pulled apart, one whom the Marys took for a gardener comes in and presents me with a crimotography. comes in and presents me with a crim-son rose, red as blood, and says: "In-hale the sweetness of this, wear it on your heart and wear it forever." I must confess that I prefer the rose in full bloom to the rose pulled apart. SCRIPTURAL QUOTATIONS ONLY.

What a time we have had with the dogmatics, the apologetics and the herneneutics. The defect in some of the creeds is that they try to tell us all about the decrees of God. Now, the only human being that was ever competent to handle that subject was Paul. and he would not have been competen had he not been inspired. I believe in the sovereignty of God and I believe in man's free agency, but no one can har monize the two. It is not necessary monize the two. It is not necessary that he harmonize them. Every sermon that I have ever heard that attempted such harmonization was to me as clear as a London fog, as clear as mud.
My brother of the nineteenth century, my brother of the sixteenth century, give us Paul's statement and leave out your own. Better one chapter of Paul on that subject than all of Calvin's institutes, able and honest and mighty as they are. Do not try to measure either the throne of God or the thunderbolts of God with your little steel pen. What do you know about the decrees? You can not pry open the doors of God's eternal counsels. You can not explain the mysteries of God's can not explain the mysteries of God's government now, much less the mysteries of his government five hundred quintillion of years ago.

I move for a creed for all our denominations, made out of scripture quotations pure and simple. That would take the earth for God. That would be impregnable against infidelity and Apollyenc assault. That would be beyond humant criticism. The denomination, whatever its name be. would be beyond human criticism. The denomination, whatever its name be, that can rise up to that will be the church of the millennium, will swailow up all other denominations and be the one that will be the bride when the Bridegroom cometh. Let us make it simpler and plainer for people to get into the kingdom of God. Do not him the state that the manual content and the second by the sites that the manual content are second by the sites that the manual content are second by the sites that the manual content are second as the sites that the manual content are second as the sites that the manual content are second as the sites that the sites that the second are second as the sites that the

Other good men in it want revision. I am with neither party. Instead of revision I want substitution. I was sorry to have the question disturbed at all. The creed did not hinder us from offering the pardon and the comfort of the gospel to all men, and the Westminster Confession has not interfered with me one minute. But now that the electric lights have been turned on the imperfections of that creed—and everything that man fashions is imperfect—let us put the old creed respectfully aside and get a brand-new one.

It is impossible that people who lived hundreds of years ago should fashion an appropriate creed for our times. John Caivin was a great and good man, but he died 326 years ago. The best centuries of Bible study have come since then, and explorers have done their work, and you might as well have the world go back and stick to what Robert. Fulton knew about steamboats and reject the subsequent improvements in navigation; and go back to John Guttenberg, the inventor of the structure. old ecclesiastical vocabulary.

old ecclesiastical vocabulary. Loose her and let her go.
Again, there are Christians who are under sepulchral shadows and hindered and hoppled by doubts and fears and sins long ago repented of. What they need is to understand the liberty of the sons of God. They spend more time under the shadow of Sinai than at the base of Calvary. They have been singing the only poor hymn that Newton ever wrote:

'Tis a point I long to know.

'Tis a point I long to know.
Off it causes anxious thought
Do I love the Lord or no,
Am I His or am I not?

Long to know, do you? Why do you not find out? Go to work for God and you will very soon find out. The man who is all the time feeling of his pulse "But," you say, "it is the same old Bible, and John Calvin had that as well as the present student of the scriptures."

Les; so it is the same old sun in the heavens, but in our time it has gone to making deguerreotypes and photostrong." So there are people who are watching their spiritual symptoms, and they call it self-examination, and they get weaker and sicklier in their fath all the time. Go out and do something nobly Christian. Take holy exercise and then examine yourself, and, instead of Newton's saturnine and bilious hymn that I first quoted, you will sing Newton's other hymn;

Amazing graze, how sweet the sound That saved a wretch like me! I once was lost, but now am found; Was blind, but now I see.

NO GRAVE CLOTHES TO BE WORN. What many of you Christians most need is to get your grave clothes off. I rejoice that you have been brought from the death of sin to the life of the gospel, but you need to get your hand loose, and your feet loose, and your tongue loose, and your soul loose. There is no sin that the Bible so arraigns, and punctures, and flagellates as the sin of unbelief, and that is what is the matter with you.

"Oh," you say, "if you knew what I once was and how many times I have grievously strayed, you would under-stand why I do not come out brighter." Then I think you would call yourself the chief of sinners. I am glad you hit upon that term, for I have a promise that fits into your case, as the cogs of one wheel between the cogs of another wheel, or as the key fits into the labyrinths of a lock. A man who was once called Saul, but afterward

Paul, declared: "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sin ners, of whom I am chief." Mark that —"of whom I am chief." Mark that —"of whom I am chief."

"Put down your overceats and nets, and I will take care of them while you kill Stephen"—so Saul said to the stoners of the first martyr—"I do not care to evert myself much but I will care to exert myself much, but [will care to exert myself much, but I will guard your surplus apparel while you do the murder."

The New Testament account says: "The witnesses laid down their clothes at a young man's feet, whose name was Saul." No wonder he said: "Sinners, of whom I am the chief." Christ is used to climbing. He climbed to the top of the temple. He climbed to the top of the cliffs about Nazareth. He climbed thunder of Sinal. Full receipt is offered for all your indebtedness. If one throw a stone at midnight into a bush where the hedge-bird roosts, it a bush where the hedge-bird roosts, it immediately begins to sing; and into the midnight hedges of your despondency these words I hurl, hoping to awaken you to anthem.

Drop the tunes in the minor key and take the major. Do you think it pleases the Lord for you to be carrying around with you the débris and carcasses of old transgressions? You make me think of some ship that has make me think of some ship that has had a tempestuous time at sea, and now that if proposes another voyage, keeps on its davits the damaged life-boats, and the splinters of a shivered mast, and the broken glass of a smashed skylight. My advice is: Clear the decks, overboard with all the damaged riggings, brighten up the salted aged riggings, brighten up the saited smokestacks, open a new log book, haul in the planks, lay out a new course, and set sail for heaven. You have had the spiritual dumps long enough. You will please the Lord more by being happy than by being miserable. Have you not sometimes started out in the rain with your umstarted out in the rain with your um-brella and you were busy thinking and you did not notice that the rain had stopped, and though it had cleared off you still had your umbrella up, and when you discovered what you were doing, you felt silly enough? That is what some of you are doing in religious things. You have got so used to sadness that though the rain has stopped you still have your umbrella up. Come out of the shadow. Ascend the stairs of your sepulches. up. Come out of the shadow. Ascend the stairs of your sepulcher. Step out into the broad light of noonday. We come around you to help remove your grave clothes, and a voice from the neavens, tremulous but omnipotent, commands:

Loose him and let him go.

A SERIES OF DANGERS Again, my text has good advice concerning any Christian hampered and bothered and bound by fear of his own dissolution. To such the Book refers simpler and plainer for people to get into the kingdom of God. Do not hinder people by the idea that they may not have been elected. Do not tag on to the one essential of faith in Christ any of the innumerable non-essentials. A man who heartily accepts Christ is a Christian, and the man who does not a coept Him is not a Christian, and the man who does not believe in election or reprobation. He need not believe in the eternal generation of the Son. He need not believe in infant baptism. He need not believe in plenary inspiration. Faith in Christ is the criterion, is the test, is the pivot, is the indispensable.

A SPIRITUAL PRESCRIPTION.
But there are those who would adding the captain who has been all night on the bridge and chilled through, coming in for a cup of coffee, is assailed with a whole-buttery of questions as to what he thinks of the weather. And many of the best people are, as Paul says, throughout their lifetime in bondage by fear of death. My brothers and sisters, if we made through the captain who has been all night on the bridge and chilled through, coming in for a cup of coffee, is assailed with a whole-buttery of questions as to what he thinks of the weather. And many of the best people are, as Paul says, throughout their lifetime in bondage by fear of death. My brothers and sisters, if we made through the captain who has been all night on the bridge and chilled through the people are, as Paul says, throughout their lifetime in bondage by fear of death. My brothers and sisters, if we made on the captain who has been all night on the bridge and chilled through the people are as Paul says, throughout their lifetime in bondage by fear of death. He was a plank fall from a scaffold and that is all there is of it. He need not believe in the eternal generation of the Son. He need not believe in the eternal generation of the Son. He need not believe in the eternal generation of the Son. when it speaks of those who, through ings of your Bible, just look through the telescope some bright night and see how many worlds there are, and reflect that all you have seen, compared with the number of worlds in existence, are less than the fingers of your right hand as compared with all the fingers of the human race. Wow foolish, then, for us to think that ours is the only world at for us to think that ours is the only world at for us to think that ours is the only world at for us to think that ours is the only world at for us to think that ours is the only more difference is in lung respiration and heart beat and physical contournation; their physical conformation fit for the climate of their world, and the first of the climate of their world, were very much peint up and the climate of their world, think, will be that in ins world, think, will be that in this world, think, will be that in the world were very much peint up and the initial world is water, and the water says to the human race: "Don't come here or you will drown." A few thousand feet up the atmosphere is uninhabitable, and the atmosphere is uninhabitable, and the atmosphere says to the human race: "Don't come here or you will be blown up. And pneumonias and pleurisies and consumptions and appleurisies and consumptions and appleurisies this world, 1000 per cent. better, 1,000,000 per cent. better. Take the gladdest, brightest, most jubilant days you ever had on earth and compress them all into one hour, and that hour would be a requiem, a fast day, a gloom, a horror, as compared with the poorest hour they have had in heaven since its first tower was built or its first gates swung or its first song caroled.

"Oh," you say, "that may be true, but I am so afraid of crossing over from the world to the next, and I fear the snapping of the cord between soul and body."

and body."

Well, all the surgeons and physicians and scientists declare that there is no pang at the parting of the body and soul, and all the seeming restlessness at the closing hours of life is involuntary and no distress at all. And I agree with the doctors, for what they say is confirmed by the fact that persons who were drowned or were supsons who were drowned or were sub-merged until all consciousness de-parted, and were afterward resusci-tated, declared that the sensation of tated, declared that the sensation of passing into unconsciousness was pleasurable rather than distressful. The cage of the body has a door on easy hinges, and when that door of the physical cage opens, the soul simply puts out its wings and soars. "But," you say, "I fear to go because the future is so full of mystery." Well, I will tell you how to treat the mysteries. The mysteries have ceased bothering me, for I do as the judges of your courts often do. They hear all the arguments in the case, and then say:

the arguments in the case, and then say:

"I will take these papers and give you my decision next week."

So I have heard all the arguments in regard to the next world, and some things are uncertain and full of mystery, and so I fold up the papers and reserve my decision about them. I can there study all the mysteries to better advantage, for the light will be better and my faculties stronger, and I will ask the Caristian philosophers, who have had all the advantages of heaven for centuries, to help me, and I may for centuries, to help me, and I may be permitted myself humby to ask the Lord, and I think there will be early one mystery left, and that will be how one so unworthy as myself got into such an enraptured place. Come up out of the sepulchral shadows. If you are not Christian by faith in Christ, come up into the light, and if you are already, like Lazarus, reanimated, but still have your grave clothes on, get rid of them. The command is: for centuries, to help

Loose him, and let him go. MEETING TROUBLE HALF WAY.

The only part of my recent journey that I really dreaded, although I did not say much about it beforehand, was the landing at Joppa. That is the port of entrance for the Holy Land, and there are many rocks, and in rough weather people cannot land at all. The boats taking the people from the steamer to the docks must run between reefs that looked to me to be about fifty feet apart, and one misstroke of an oarsman or an unexpected wave has an oarsman or an unexpected wave has sometimes been fatal, and hundreds have perished along those reefs. Besides that, as we left Port Said the evening before, an old traveler said:

"The wind is just right to give you a rough landing at Joppa; indeed, I think you will not be able to land at all."

The fact was that when our Med-

The fact was that when our Mediterranean steamer dropped anchor, near Joppa, and we put out for shore in the small boat, the water was as still as though it had been sound asleep a hundred years, and we landed as easily as i came on this platform. Well, your fears have pictured for you an appalling arrival at the end of your voyage of life, and they say that the seas will run high, and that the breakers will swallow you up, or that, if you reach Canaan at all, it will be a very rough landing. The very opposite will be true, if you have the eternal God for your portion. Your disembarkation for the promised land will be as smooth as was ours at Pales, the last present the season. will be as smooth as was ours at Pales-tine last December. Christ will meet you far out at sea, and pilot you into complete safety, and you will land with a hosanna ou one side of you, and a halielujah on the other.

"Land ahead!" its fruits are waving, O'er the hills of fadeless green, And the living waters laving Shores where heavenly forms are seen.

Rocks and storms I'll see no more, When on that elerial shore; Drop the anchor! furi the sail! I am safe within the veil!

The people of Cautornia had the snug sum of $93,312,100 to their credit in the savings banks on the first day of January, 1890, a greater amount per capita than is deposited in the savings banks in any other State in the Union.

The New England Magazine for March is remarkable for its many portraits. In the article on "The Supreme Court of the United States" there is given likenesses of more than a dozen of the great justices. In an exquisitely-illustrated article on Chautauqua will be found striking portraits of Bishop Vincent and Lewis Miller, and just at this time the portrait of Henry W. Grady will be especially appreciated. "A Successful Woman's Ciub," "A Strange Dinner Party," and "An O.d New England Country Gentleman" are other illustrated articles in the number that will attract wide attention.

How to Prolong Life After Middle Age. Views of an Eminent London Physician, Whose Specialty is Diseases of the Aged.

John Gardner, M. D., is a London Physician who makes a specialty of the treat-ment of diseases of elderly persons. In a recent book upon this subject, Dr. Gard-

"A healthy and vigorous state of every part and every organ is essential to the health and well being of the whole system 'To grow old gracefully,' is not the common lot of all. With advancing years come increased infirmities they are by no means inevitable, and their presence is due to the failure to keep up to their work the various organs of the body. The study of the body by scientists furnishes unquestionable evidence that the duration of human life may be prolonged to a hundred human life may be prolonged to a hundred years."

Why, then, do so few live to that age; and why after middle life—and often before—is there so much suffering from nervousness, rheumatism, feebleness, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, and debility? Because long life or overwork has weakened the nervous system. Rev. T. Williston, the famous author of "Christ's Millenial Reign," when eighty four years old, suffered with indigestion and rheumatic affections. His attention was called fortunately to Paine's Celery Compound. A free use of that great medicine for the nerves cured him, and made a great improvement in his general health.

cured him, and made a great improvement in his general health.

This grand discovery is an unequaled medicine for the aged. It produces life and energy and is a marvelous preserver of the fire and vigor of youth. There is nothing like it for strengthening the nerves, and curing the diseases to which old folks are specially subject. It is truly called invaluable by those who have made a special study of diseases of elderly people.

Watch, citizens, and see whether the real purpose of the pending injunction suit-the next obstacle to overcome before the city money can be loaned-is not to tie up the people's funds in such way that the city will not only be deprived of the interest thereon, but that the boodle so filched from the public treasury may be used to carry the sewer bonds corruptly; and that, when voted, this money, too, will be tied up, or so manipulated by "the combine" as to make its handling more of a private than a public benefit.

must be very simple. Once more we repeat that this is not a case of sewers or no sewers, of whether or not we desire to make Los Angeles a healthy and attractive city, or to provide work for the unemployed. The question is: Shall we expend a million and a half dollars for systems which many experienced men consider faulty and deficient, when we may obtain all we need in this line for $700,-000? With times so hard as they are at present, can we afford to throw away $800,000? The glaring disadvantages of the Ballona outfall scheme have been repeatedly exposed in these columns. It was these disadvantages which mainly ed to the defeat of the sewer bonds at the previous election. Now the same proposition is once more offered, the only difference being that the cost has been largely increased. Such action is little less than an insuit to the oters: The Citizens' Sewer Commission labored long and diligently, and evolved some valuable ideas on the sewer question. The suggestions of this body of citizens have been almost entirely ignored in the present pro-

"At any rate the movement was a opposing the lending of the city's money at interest. The view expressed by our correspondent is that, should these banks persist in the injunction suit which they have brought to restrain the loaming of the money, there is reason to apprehend that, in case the sewer bonds are voted, some of the banks may sek to tie up, in the same manner, the very large amount of money which the bonds call for!

While, ordinarily, different propositions should each stand upon its own merits, in this case the argument of our correspondent is entitled to serious consideration.

The Los Angeles correspondent of the company final time of the railroads. It is really not a very new subject in itself, but I never have seen it expounded as its merits deserve; and it is one in which the control of the passengers for a week at its own expanses. And it is a standing rule throughout the Santa Fé system—the longest in the world, and including the Allantic and Pacific—that when a train is "held up" by any sort of Stanford University—Coast Notes. merits deserve; and it is one in which the Halifax (N. S.) Herald is an indus- the congregation has a more than passing interest.

It is a trite proverb that corporations have no souls; and the application and the train resumes its journey. on't is particularly numerous and unanimous as to railroads. Every man that ever tried in vain for a free pass, or to pull a 19-year-old child through on half-fare, or to carry his house as baggage without paying "excess," is sure of the soullessness; and the rest of us generally agree with him. Like all sweeping rules, however, it has its brilliant exceptions. There are corporations and corpora-tions—and railroads and railroads. Not all of them travel on their uppers (for connection between uppers and soles see Pharaoh's Court Jester, 207th edition.)

The railroads which interest us as The railroads which interest us as Californians have afforded a striking object lesson of late, to those who care to take it to heart; not a new or an unexpected lesson, for it has been characteristic of the teachers, but a lesson which some of us seem to need trepanned into us about three times a year. It is so simple that he who runs may read, but lest some runper fail to may read; but lest some runner fail to read as he runs, I am here to throw it after him in chunks—some of which I atter him in chunks—some of which I trust will hit him in his flight.
The roads leading to the Pacific Coast may be broadly divided into two

I do not think any one who has lived in California very long will need any diagram of the latter classification. The two classes latter classification. The two classes are not in equal danger of the climate hereafter, but both are more or less its victims here. The northern roads are blockaded with snow every winter, and now and then lose a train in unfathomable drifts. The southern routes are very little troubled by "the beautiful," but take their precipitation in rain, and ever year are more or less worried and hampered by washouts. The Southern Pacific sometimes washes out 60 miles of track at a lick—and the ful." out 60 miles of track at a lick-and the

Of course a majority of the passengers of any such train carry just about enough money in their pockets to take them to their journey's end, and precious little more. Even the Puliman travelers are not always exceptions to the rule. For those who didn't carry a young fortune in their purses, the situation was more than disagreeable. are not always exceptions to the rule. For those who didn't carry a young fortune in their purses, the situation was more than disagreeable. Here the peculiarly happy policy of the pirate roads came in. The stranded parsengers were left to shift for them-seives. If they had money, they could go and buy food; if they didn't, they could go to—where there are more C. P. people than snowdrifts. It is true that if one would take a degrading sort of bankruptcy oath, he could get grudgingly fed in the company's eating-houses. Otherwise he could spend his last dollar or go hungry. Those who were stopped east of the blockade and did not get stack in the snow—there was an army of them at Sait Lake and other points—timidly suggested, after about a fortnight's waiting, that the company might take them back to the nearest connecting point, and thence send them to California by one of the southern routes. I fancy the puratic hair must have turned gray at the audacity of this request. The ple than snowdrifts. It is true the audacity of this request. The chairman of the grievance committee of the passengers who were imprisoned in Salt Lake City is my authority for the statement that the answer was

Tanner left the Pension in Tanner left the Pension chings looked pretty dark for nicially. His law business in headen up, he had nature and some efforts opened the road and the robbers escaped. At the same time that these pleasant episodes were going on in the North, the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad had a bad washout-this side of Winslow, including a long bridge across the Little Colorado. It looked as though court. Little Colorado. It looked as though it might take several days to put the road in running order again—particularly as there were also bad washouts on the California division. In two hours after the news of the disaster reached Albuquerque, passengers for California were exchanging their Atlantic and Pacific tickets for tickets via Deming and the Southern Pacific; and every one of them reached his destination without any hardship, without a cent of extra expense, and only a few hours behind time. This was kept up as long as the blockade lasted—which was only three days, train is "held up" by any sort of mishap the passenger have to pay for only the first meal; after that, the company feeds them at its own expense till the road is open This crazy consideration of the com-fort of its passengers is confined to the Santa Fé route. No other transcon-Santa Fé route. No other transcon-tinental line is so simple. The Sath-ern Pacific, like its pal to the north, lets no such golden opportunity escape for a cinch. What are the passengers lets no such grants for a cinch. What are the passengers for a cinch. What are the passengers there for, unless to contribute their change toward repairing the washout which detains them? The price of which detains them? length of the delay; and it is the pas-senger who pays for them. In fact, if there were any way to enforce the ukase, I have no doubt that the message from Fourth and Townsend would be. If you want to get out, turn over your clothes, jewelry and notes at 30 days to the conductor as an inducement. It costs money to repair washouts, and we ain't here for our health." That sounds rather loud, but it isn't ahead of some other edicts from there that we have heard who have lived in Southern California long enough to wear out a few pairs of shoes. As I remarked at the outset there are railroads and railroads—some with souls, and some whose principa rolling-stock (aside from "Silver Pal ace" cattle-cars) is the kind of "roll ing" generally practiced with a slung-shot in a dark alley and by night. The Santa Fé road has been a great civilizer since it reached the coast, but its missionary work will have to go on a good while longer, for the heathen whom it would convert are ragers from away back.

I am often amused, in my wander ings up and down, to note the inability of the average easterner to grasp the fact that there are good reasons why a transcontinental line isn't precisely as rapid and handy as the eastern roads He cannot get it through him that it is one thing to build and op-erate a road one, two or three hundred miles long, in the flat, thickly settled States where there is a town every two miles, and timber, ballast, fuel and cheap labor thicker than grasshoppers; and quite another to build and operate a road a out 60 miles of track at a lick—and the whole line is hung up to dry for some days or weeks. Still, even the worst washouts are petty wees to the traveler, compared with a bad snow blockade, though the drain on the pocket of the railroad is doubtless fully as great. The Atlantic and Pacific has fewer washouts, and infinitely less serious ones; and being the "Middle Route," naturally escapes the worst troubles of the extremits on either side of it, Still, it is not altogether exempt. Being located in this vale of tears, it shares to some extent the universal tribulations that infest timber, balls, fuel and cheap in thicker than grashoppers; and thousand miles long 'through bleakest, barest, most inhospitable and the carth's surface, where ther neither fuel, water, tie-lumber, ball on leakest, barest, most inhospitable and the carth's surface, where ther neither fuel, water, tie-lumber, ball on the carth's surface, where ther neither fuel, water, tie-lumber, ball on the carth's surface, where ther neither fuel, water, tie-lumber, ball on the carth's surface, where ther neither fuel, water, tie-lumber, ball on the particular and the carth's surface, where ther neither fuel bleakest, barest, most inhospitable area on the earth's surface, where there is neither fuel, water, tie-lumber, ballast nor labor; where it is 200 miles between towns that are bigger than a minute where if half the passengers expecte rate simultaneously from the windows it causes a $50,000 washout; and where there are of necessity such grades as would be thought a steep wagon-road back East. "How slow we are going!" groans a fellow whose time is worth about two bits a day. "I wonder why it is?" 'On, nothing, except that a 70-ton engine is managing to pull you up a hill that the puny 30 and 40-tonners of your country would stall at the foot of. "And what are those funny tanks on flatears try would stall at the foot of. "And what are those funny tanks on flatcars that we pass at every siding?" Not much—only in this country they have to haul water by the trainload to the locomotives and keep alive the operators and laborers at the lonely little stations. The Atlantic and Pacific Railroad is 815 miles long. The water it has to haul amounts to haul but come from one hundred to one thousand miles away. The eating-houses are planted in a land which barely suffices to feed its indigenous horned toads and rattle-snakes. Every morsel of the elegant meals which are set before the traveler has been brought one or two thousand miles, and is served to him by trim, ladylike waitresses, who are still far-ther from home. If he could be turned loose for a while on the desert, and see what it produces, he would be more appreciative of the wonders the rail-road has worked for his comfort—the much from nothing. If he had to climb on foot the hills the engine climbs for him, he would wonder less if the speed of the train sometimes falls below express time; and if he would try to build a doghouse from the resources of the country, he might begin to understand what it was to build and is to maintain 1000 miles of railroad through that country. I say he might—I have ceased to be certain about the tourist in any capacity. Some of him couldn't learn beans if he was boiled in the pot with them.

Pomona, March 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Robert Kelk, who made a small fortune in San Francisco and Sonoma as a carpenter and builder, and has been living here for years, has mysteriously disap peared. Two weeks ago he started to go to Los Angeles for a few hours. He has not been seen since. He had $250 in gold with him. His sister at Anahelm is wild with grief, and detectives are searching for him.

His Land. Modesto, March 9.—In the suit of W. H.
Mahoney vs. I. B. Bostwick, involving title to 1000 acres of land in this county, the jury this morning brought in a verdict for Mahoney and allowing him $3000 per year ince October, 1885, for use and occupation of the land. Bostwick advanced $22,000 in 1885 on what Mahoney claimed to be a mortgage, with three years to pay the same with interest. Six months later Bostwick dispossessed the plaintiff, claiming that the instrument was a deed absolute. Judge Harris of Fresno presided.

Iron Works Burned. SPOKANE FALLS (Wash.), March 9 .- A fire broke out in the Ross Iron Works, on Haverman's Island, at 3 o'clock this ing. The report of the Committee on Privileges and Elections on the Montana case is likely to be made this week, but the debate that must ensue will not begin until the Blair Rill is out of the way.

The Urgent Deficiency Appropriation Bill will be reported from the Committee on Appropriations this week. Mr. Stanford will offer a resolution tomorrow instructing the Finance Committee to investigate and report upon the expediency and desirability of the Government loaning money upon real-estate mortgages at a nounal rate of interest, 1 or 2 per cent. per annum, retaining the right to call in a certain proportion of the loans when occasion demands.

Townsite Bill may be considered, and further progress made in the execution of the order to dispose of public building and bridge bills on the calendar.

The work of the House this week will probably be devoted principally to adding new stars to the national flag. The Oklahems bill will be taken up on Tuesday and passed upon finally, as far as the House is concerned. Then, according to the notice already given, the Territories Committee will present for consideration the bill to admit Wyoming, and this will be followed by the Idaho Bill, if any time remains.

THE BENWELL MURDER.

Strong Evidence Accumulating Against Birchell.
NIAGARA FALLS (Ont.), March 9.- By the Associated Press.] Government Detective Murray, speaking of Birchell in an interview today, says he has the strongest case of circumstantial evidence he ever had, and, when presented, it will be impossible for him to gsaape the clutches of the law. This is not the first, second or third young Englishman inred to this country by him, he says, and before the case is finished the fate of all of them will be cleared up Within the past three or four years two other bodies have been found in the vicinity of Blenheim swamps and neither their identity or the manner of death were established. Then there was young Peckthall. All these are recalled now, and the events of the Benwell murder give them new significance.

Japanese Sensitiveness.
From John la Farge's letters now appearing in the Century we quote the following: "The Japanese sensitiveness to the beauties of the outside world is something much more delicate and complex, and contemplative cate and complex, and contemplative, and at the same time more natural, than ours has ever been. Outside of Arcadia, I know of no other land whose people hang verses on the trees in honor of their beauty; where families travel far before the dawn to see the first light touch the new buds. Where else do the newspapers announce the spring openings of the blossoms? Where else would be possible the charming absurdity of the story that W— was felling me drikk, and drink and write verses, all by himself, with no gallery to help him? If there is convention in a tradition half obligatory, and if we, western lovers of the tree, do not quite like the Japanese refinement of growing the cherry merely for its flowers, yet how deliciously upside-down from us, and how charming is the love of Nature at the foundation of the custom."

Frederick Warde is playing a successful engagement in San Francisco, and will arrive in this city in time to open next Monday night. This on gagement, is limited to three nights and a matinée on Wednesday. The repertory includes Virginius, The Monatchak and Richard the Third, the latter being, perhaps, the best of his impersonations. Frederick Warde is one of the few legitimate actors now occupying the stage. He has passed through a long apprenticeship to the drams, and has studied his art with all the zeal of an enthusiast. He is finely endowed physically, and can sway an audience with his passion, and made with his pathos. Lacking, no doubt, the finish and subtlety of Booth, he can yet stir men's minds with greater effect, and that without traveling beyond the limits of dramatic propriety. His has been steadily gains the many sided talent.

Are the music-loving people quite indifferent to the opportunity just within their reach? Of course it may be said that Manager Marcus Mayer, who controls these musicians, has a spite against our city on account of his failure to work his grand Patti scheme to our detriment, but even he could be reached with an offer of dollars, if dollars enough, and that should not be difficult in a musical city like our own, where performers are numerous as the chimney tops and critics may be found in every basement.

The decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, says "Music and Drama," that the issue of party or Drama," that the issue of party or theatrical rate-tickets is illegal, will, if generally accepted by the railway companies, strike a severe blow at the prospects of traveling theatrical companies for next season. With the enforcement of the single-ticket rate, and that of excess baggage, managers will be handicapped in a manner that will prevent many good companies from crossing the continent. Many excellent attractions have found it unprofitlent attractions have found it unprofitable in the East to carry large com-panies through the country, even at the special rates furnished by the so-called party-tickets, and if the Interstate Commission abolishes that method of obtaining a slight reduction on regular rates, the result cannot but prove disastrous to the Pacific Coast, and good theatrical attractions will be fewer than ever.

THE NATIONALISTS.

THE VARIOUS CLUBS HOLD ROUSING MEETINGS.

The Ladies Take Possession of Club No. 1 and Talk Woman's Rights -They Object to Being Put by Themselves.

Nationalist Club No. 1 held an animated meeting at Temperance Temple yesterday afternoon, as might have been expected when the ladies were to hold the reins. Mrs. Junkins, in the absence of Mrs. Sherburne, was requested to take the chair, and, after a song, "Awake Ye Men of Labor" by the audience, read a paper submitted by Mrs. Todd, entitled "Monopoly of by Mrs. Todd, entitled "Monopoly of the Sex," which, it was claimed, was the chief corner-stone of all the monopolies. It was an able composi-tion and well read.

After a song by Mrs. Coan, a paper sentin by Mrs. Guthrie was read by Mrs. Peebles. Modest and unassum-ing in style, many good points were made; the fair writer, who commented on the good work being done by fath-ers, husbands and brothers in endeav-oring to bring about a state of affairs oring to bring about a state of affairs which would better the conditions of all, pointed out that it was the duty of wives, mothers and daughters to do all them. wives, mothers and daughters to do ah in their power to help them in their good work. After speaking of the many failures to benefit the masses, it was suggested that woman could have done no worse and might have done much better, and, after recounting what they had already done in advancing Christianity, in the cause of temperance, in the G.A.R. and for female suffrage, they might well feel encouraged to unite for the furtherance of a plan which will do more for woman than any other reform yet contemplated.

After a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Peabody, Mrs. Wood of Club No. 2 read a paper on the importance of working in paper on the importance of working in perfect harmony and concert, remind-ing the club and Nationalists gener-ally that a house divided against itself cannot stand, and recommending wemen to come to the front and work wemen to come to the front and work for the end they have in view, and be useful as well as ornamental.

In Mrs. Robinson's paper, read by Mrs. Junkins, several good points were made, showing that the early education of the opposite sex were almost useless to the girl, because she could see no way in which she could turn to account an acquired knowledge of philosophy. Greek Latin. knowledge of philosophy, Greek, Latin, mathematics, etc., as her chief end and aim is to get married, while, on the other hand, the boy would see that these studies would help him to get a living. The Mosaic dispensation was these studies would help him to get a living. The Mosaic dispensation was referred to, where women were considered as slaves, only existing for man's comfort and amusement, chattels and articles of merchandise, to be sold to the highest bidder, and it was pointed out that the new dispensation did not materially alter the situation, for modern civilization has findle women either drudges or playthings. It is to the honor of Nationalism that it proposes no half measures. It is to give women their rights, and invites them to cooperate with men for the common good of all.

Mrs. Peebles read an excellent original paper, in which it was suggested that if Nationalists organize to go intopolities, the women form a separate organization to do their part in their own particular way.

This was followed by a quartette composed of Mrs. Carson, Messrs. Irvine and Heldman and Mrs. McChristie, accompanied by Miss Van Sickle, and a paper by Mrs. Howe, read by Mrs. Junkins. This was the spiciest reading of the day. The writer was extremely satirical, and suggested that the invitation extended to the ladies to address the meeting was merely an act of politeness and not from a desire to hear their opinions. She was not at all auxious for the franchise, but if

to bear their opinions. She was not at all anxious for the franchise, but if there is no other way to get justice, then let women have the ballot, in which case there will be a grand scouring and general purification of that dirty piece of paper; and, after being sercarcastically rough on the men folks, wound up by saying that "the men are scarce who, if they had a couple of million dollars, would give a fig for Bellamy and all his disciples,"

A solo by Mr. Ragland, "Flee as a Bird," was grandly sung, and received prolonged applause from a delighted audience.

Some short speeches and a telling address by Mr. Owen was followed ing and general purification of that

Some short speeches and a telling address by Mr. Owen was followed by some remarks by Dr. Peebles, who suggested that as the meeting had been such an immense success under the management of the ladies, he proposed that the first Sunday in each month be at their disposal. It was finally decided that the chair be occupied by first a lady and then a gentleman on alternate Sundays. A very spirited paper was read by Mrs. Gideon, in which it was recommended that the women should work with the sterner sex, and not, as had been suggested, under a distinct organization. Having been brought up with her brothers, without girls of her age to play with, she had been developed physically as well as mentally, as perfectly as they, and failed to see why she had not the same privileges and rights that they had, and after trying for 60 years to find out, she was as much in the dark as ever.

A logical discourse from Mrs. Todd ended the meeting, which seemed to have been thoroughly enjoyed by all. It was announced that arrangements nd been made to secure the services of the Rev. R. M. Webster to preach next Sunday evening in this city in some centrally-located hall.

Nationalist Club No. 3 (German)

THE ROUNDER.

Flying Sparks and Fancies from Here and There,

A local physician told me the other day that it makes climbing easier. climbing stairs at least, if you turn your toes in as you go up. The Indians knew something when they adopted their straight-toed walk, so straight that it leans the other way. Whether it be that the knee muscles take the strain in thus going upstalrs, instead of the loin muscles, or for whatever reason, people who toe-in while mounting to third or fifth story by stairways seldom, if ever, lose their breath.

Bicyclists say few sections of country equal Pasadena and vicinity for good wheeling. The roads are wide and smooth and hard. The grades are easy, and there are few ruts or gullies to annoy the rider. Going eastward, at intervals a sand waste causes temat intervals a sand waste causes temporary trouble, but these are few and far between. Those who have well tested the pleasure and healthful excitement of a spin on a cycle would not give it up for any other form of exercise or sport.

It is strange to notice the sudden variations of wind we experience here. Watch, for instance, smoke issuing Watch, for instance, smoke issuing from the stacks on Raymond Hill. Here the elevation is high enough to be free from disturbances from local currents. Probably in the course of an hour you will have seen the wind blow from each of the four quarters or variations thereof. Here is a good subject for local meteorologists to think upon and explain.

Big dogs are displacing the pugs and Big dogs are displacing the pugs and terriers in fashion's favor, and a very sensible change it is. The other morning I saw a bright-faced, happy little girl out walking, accompanied by a big, black, noble-looking dog. The animal was good-natured, and as he and his young mistress played together they presented a very pretty picture, and were evidently good friends. It is strange why all girls who want to keep dogs don't have one who want to keep dogs don't have one like this one, instead of a snarling pug or terrier that is only an annoyand and of no earthly use to any one. A mastiff or a St. Bernard is a protector, and an animal whose disposition you can always count on as being reliable.

"It is quite interesting," said a man yesterday who has tried it, "to watch the effect, in running, of making demands upon unaccustomed muscles. When you must run to catch a train. When you must run to catch a train, keep the knees stiff—at goose step. as it is called in the German army drill. By turning the feet sideways, inward, as you run, the whole exertion comes upon the lower part of the body; the chest is free and you can breathe easily. One is carried along almost without exertion; the breathing does not quicken; it quite modifies the usual run." This is not written with any reference to professional running. any reference to professional running.

Although the season is nearing its close at the Raymond the house suffers no diminution in the number of its guests. Indeed, this is one of the pleasantest seasons of the year to be in California and easterners appreciate it. The country is in the full glory of springtime; the air is mild, the sun is the organization known as "The King's warm, the surrounding natural attractions superb. These, together with the unsurpassed accommodations the house affords, are a few of the advan-tages the guests enjoy. It is thought they get the full worth of their money. Yesterday several 'bus loads of guests attended church in Pasadena.

A HAPPY TERMINATION.

The Sewer Suits Go the Right Way and Pasadena Rejoices.
The long-talked-of sewer suits came to a happy termination Saturday before Judge Shaw, in Department No. 5 of the Superior Court of Los Angeles. The case lasted only two days, and the jury returned a verdict for the city without leaving their seats. The news of the verdict, while not unexpected, was of a cheering character to Pasadenians, who have long waited and yearned for the time when the big sewer stretching off to the southward, and on which so much money has been spent, could be put to some practical use. The city, however, is not yet in a position to go ahead with work on the sewers. Out of about sixty defendants, through whose property a defendants, through whose property a right of way for the sewer is to be obtained, only a few over half the number were served in the suit just terminated. The remaining defendants will have to be settled with before the right of way is continuous. The pipe, when laid, must be hermetically sealed, so that no gas may escape.

Messrs. Haynes and Mitchell of Los Angeles, A. R. Metcalfe and F. J. Polley of Pasadena represented the plaintiffs. Messrs. Graves, O'Melveny & Shankland were the attorneys for the

WOMAN AND HOME.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE KING'S DAUGHTERS.

Where the Fifst Society Met—In a Little, Wayside Railroad Station—The Good the Order Has Done—A Beautiful Story.

A little more than a year and a balf ago there was formed in Los Angeles the organization known as "The King's Daughters," an organization beautiful its spirit and all-embracing in its tendencies. It is not merely a benevolent society, although its members are expected to do good as they have opportunity, but its first great purpose is to lift up its members to a higher plane of Christian life, and to help them to keep ever in mind that they belong to the royal household, and are daughters of the King, and they are pledged "In His Name" to do whatever they may to comfort, help and strengthen all those with whom they come in contact whom they can make better or happier through such effort. It is an organization which partakes largely of the spirit of the Master, and its purpose is to do good in a quiet, unostentatious manner.—I think that my readers will enjoy the following paper, which was read by the secretary of the local organization beautiful to following paper, which was read by the secretary of the local organization beautiful to following paper, which was read by the secretary of the local organization beautiful to following paper, which was read by the secretary of the local organization beautiful to form an outward to the members to a company of 10 women united to form an outward in the thex time at the residence of Mrs. F. Bottome, in New York city, on the morning of January 13, 1886. After consideration of the good to be done by binding themselves together by a triple cord, whose strands were Faith, Hope and Charity, they decided to organize themselves into an order or sisterhood of service, hoping by this closer union to increase their usefulness many fold. Mrs. F. Bottome was elected president; Mrs. M. L. Dickinson, secretary; and Miss Hamersly, treasurer. Of the various names proposed for this order, the one of the following paper, which was read by the secretary of the local organizat ago there was formed in Los Angeles Daughters," an organization beautiin its tendencies. It is not merely a benevolent society, al-though its members are expected to do good as they have opportunity, but its first great purpose is to lift up its members to a higher plane of Chrisroyal household, and are daughters of the King, and they are pledged "In His Name" to do whatever they may to comfort, help and strengthen all those with whom they come in contact whom they can make better or happier through such effort. It is an organization which partakes largely of the spirit of the Master, and its purpose is to do good in a quiet, unostentations manner.

I think that my readers will enjoy the following paper, which was read by the secretary of the local organization at its last meeting, a week ago, giving, as it does, an insight into the spirit and purpose of the order and the causes which led to its formation. It is as follows:

"The intention of the book no deduc-is to show how much good can be done without 'Neither Scrip nor Money,' which is the title of a charming little story contained in the same book, whose heroine in life was one of the first ten that was organized at that churches, and so I say again, all Chris-wayside station. This is how this noted man commences: I suppose it was the strangest club that ever came Such is the history and the spirit of

"Ah, me! if I only could go on and tell Bridget's story as she told it her-self, with the thousand pretty praises of dear Harry, you would better under-stand what manner of man he was."

Each of the ten then relate how the man's beautiful personality had en-riched their lives, each in a different moral and spiritual way, but none with money, no almsgiving, but plenty of kind, encouraging words. The author then tells in his way, at some leugth, of the attempt to organize, which I am compelled to condense, as I have done before. "So we spent the rest of our five hours discussing the rest of our five hours discussing the covenant, the name and the constitution of our little society, and when at last we heard the scream of the express and saw its light, we were further from the organization than ever.

"Everybody looked for scrip and staff (carpet-bag and cane). Everybody seized his coat or hef shawl, and poor Widdifield and Morton were first heard pleading for a committee to draw up a constitution, or first a little formula, you know," when the train stopped and we stowed away as we could in the seperate cars.

For all that, however, these people loved Harry with their hearts' love, and not one of them meant to fail in the impulse he had given; no, nor ever did fail, and though as I said, the club never met again, and never can, per-never met again, and never cau, perhaps, it has existed to as much purpose. After the train was under way, I passed along from car to car, and asked each of them if he would not write me some day if anything turned up, which brought Harry to his mind, or which would have pleased him.

Everybody said "yes." And what is more, everybody has done as he said. So I have this mass of letters you saw in my desk, marked "Harry Wadsworth," and it is that mass of letters which gives me the material of the really curious story or stories."

Then he gives the stories. The letters tell of how widespread is the good that this man, although in humble position, has done for his fellow-man:

From this little book, much to the author's surprise, numerous clubs have organized, with the intention of doing good in the way that Harry Wadsworth did, having such names as "Look-up Legion," "Lend a Hand," etc., most of them adopting the famous "Wadsworth Mottoes:"

Look up, not down; never met again, and never can, perhaps, it has existed to as much pur-

"Among my listeners, no doubt, are some who have read a little book written by Edward Everett Hale, entitled 'Ten Times Oue Is Teu, 'the first part of which was published as early as 1869, from which I find the order of the 'King's Daughters' originated, or at least the spirit and the idea.

"As perhaps there are some who will not read the book, it will be well to give you something from it.

"There were these 10 members I tell you of. And they never met but this once, nor do I believe they will ever met again.

"They met in the railroad station at North Colchester, waiting for the express train, which, if you happen to remember that particular afternoon and evening was five hours and twenty minutes behind time, but they had nowhere else to go, and it was then and there that the club was formed.

"For they had all come together at Harry Wadsworth's funeral. The most manly and womanly fellow he whom I ever knew, the merriest, and the freshest, and the bravest, and the bravest, and the people were sorry, and the most sympathizing when they were glad.

An insane Chinaman named Chang Lee was found wandering about in Chinatown between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning by Officers Roberts and Dugan, and taken to the police station, where he was locked up. This is the same Chinaman arrested by Officer Rinkenbach, in a half-starved condition at the corner of Argain and condition, at the corner of Arcadia and Los Angeles streets, some days ago. The Chinaman was examined as to his sanity, but the physicians declined to commit him, and he was discharged. He will be detained a day or two, when he will again come up for exam-

About 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning Officer Rinkenbach noticed a man walking up First street with a roll of matting under his arm. The officer did not like the appearance of things, and stopped the man, asking him where he was going. The man, who was a young Mexican, replied that he was going home, but when asked to explain about his bundle he forgot all the English he knew, and could give no explanation. On being searched a lot of new lead pencils was found in his pockets, and he was arrested. At the station he gave the name of Miguel Vara, and was locked up. About 2:30 o'clock yesterday morn

DID HE ESCAPE?

The Mystery of Sycamore Cañon Cleared Up. Maj. Mitchell of Glendale visited the Sycamore Cañon tunnel, near Verdugo, early yesterday morning. The Major was prepared to open the mouth of the tunnel at any cost, and had men enough with him to carry out his work

When he reached the tunnel he found that the people in the neighborhood were talking about the mystery, and were just getting ready to make a thorough investigation.

The tunnel was not closed at the mouth, as was at first reported. It caved in at a point about thirty feet from the mouth, and it was considered quite dangerous to tamper with the dirt that has fallen, for the reason that the whole place is thoroughly soaked from the rain, and the slightest jar might bring tons of dirt down on the laborers.

street, between Second and Third.

Dr. Williams's Indian Pile Ointment. The only remedy ever discovered to give immediate relief and a permanent cure to all blind, bleeding or itching piles. Sold on an abeen caught in the tunnel he could have escaped by climbing over the pile of dirt, as there is a space of six or eight inches between the pile and the roof of the tunnel.

Marion Squires, the man who heard the noise in the tunnel on Thursday last, was seen, and stated that he went to the tunnel on that day to get some tools, and while walking in the tunnel he heard the sounds, as if some one was trying to work his way out with a pick. He was confident that a prospector had been caught in the tunnel, and after doing all in his power to attract the attention of the imprisoned man he left the tunnel and went to Detective Lawson's ranch near by, and informed Mr. Fallon of what he had heard. The two went back to the tunnel and built in fire near the pile of dirt in the tunnel, and did all in their power to get an answer from the supposed man, but failed. The poise continued all the time they were there, and they attempted to clear the dirt away, but it was in such a condition that if there was a man in the tunnel he has made his wây out.

This beautiful book is the most practical work of the kind that has ever been printed and will be warmly welcomed by our readers. Its author has had a long and extended ex perience in artistic needlework, and in this volume she has carefully set forth the results of her study and labor in this fascinating department of art. of nor study and moor is this resonating department of arc.

She has illustrated her work by means of COLORED PLATES, each one of which is made directly from the piece of embroidery which it represents. On one page of the book she shows an outline pattern of the leaves, and on the opposite page is a beautiful COLORED PLATE showing the pattern as it appears after it has been properly worked. This plate shows the exact colors that were used in doing the work, and the outline pattern is lettered and numbered, and the author gives full directions for working the colors

There are Eight of These Colored Plates, as Follows:

Autumn Leaves, Yellow Daisies, Golden Rod, Wild Roses, Tulips, Morning Glories, Thistles, Pansies.

Any lady can master the beautiful art, of Embroidery in Colors without any other instructions than this valuable book gives. THIS WORK IS PRINTED ON HEAVY TINTED PAPER and is bound with beautifully illuminated cover. It is such a book as ordinarily sells in book stores for $2, but because it is a volume especially adapted to the needs of every household we have put the price within the reach of all.
